Bruce Worth, general manager of the Mason location, credits the success of his location to bolder flavors as well as the expansion of the draft beer selection to 30 rotating draft beer taps and one of the largest selections of scotch in the area.

“We have evolved from standard ‘pub grub,’ which typically includes lots of fried food, heavy dishes and not so healthy choices, to a selection of lighter fare, grilled items, seafood and pasta, along with our house smoked items,” said Worth.

“The building is so unique, you could spend an hour just walking around and looking at all the antiques, Irish items and eclectic decorations ...” Brazenhead is a secret little getaway that most people haven’t tried yet. Once they do, they will be hooked.
